Weeks Dropped as A. A. U. Delegate

Weeks Shaken Out as Delegate to National A. A. U. Convention

Olympic Committeeman Able to Muster Only 18 Votes—Rebuke to Management of Expedition—Athletes' Committee Shows Power

By Herbert Reed ("Right Wing")

Bartow S. Weeks has been shaken out of the delegation of the Metropolitan Association to the national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union as a rebuke to the management of the American Olympic expedition. Frederick W. Rubien retained his yellow jacket and his peacock feather on sufferance. The first accomplishment must be registered to the credit of the new committee of athletics, represented at a stormy session of the Metropolitan Association in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory last night and a goodly part of this morning, by Richard F. Remer, secretary of the insurgents. The retention of Rubien in his present post was mainly due to the fact that he was on his way home and had practically no opportunity to have anything said in defence of his connection with the American Olympic Committee. Herman Obertubbessing, the chairman, dropped his gavel long enough to put through a resolution demanding an accounting of Olympic funds and a report of the management of the expedition.

Weeks was squeezed off the delegation to the convention without much difficulty. He received only eighteen votes. Rubien retained his place as sixth man with very little to spare. Harold Dibblee was the man on whom the athletes and the representatives of the small clubs concentrated, and he came throug handsomely. With the exception of the ballot for Rubien the votes were in the sixties. Rubien slipped through in sixth place with a vote of twenty-seven. The rest of the delegation is made up of Obertuoesing, Mahoney, Stumpf, and Mathews.

For the first time in many a long year the athletes themselves have shown that they were capable of solid organization, an organization that, by the way, is planned to be permanent. At the head of the committee represented on the floor by Dick Remer, is Ted Meredith one of the greatest of the Olympians, and the committee has been put together in such a way tha there is ground for the belief that it will function continuously and become a real power in the councils of the Amateur Athletic Union. Just how much of a triumph this has been only those familiar with the conduct of the American Olympic expedition and the general procedure of the A. A. U. can realize.

Collegians May Act

There is a disposition on the part of those who are farsighted in matters athletic to bring about a new deal no matter who has to suffer. Undoubtedly the action of the Metropolitan Association in the case of Weeks will influence to some extent the members of the Intercollegiate Association, whose representative on the Olympic committee, its president, in fact, was Gustavus T. Kirby. The committee of athletes includes enough collegians to make as strong a fight in the Intercollegiate Association as was made in the local A. A. U. last night. Nor is this committee sectional in character. Athletes of national prominence are among the members, including Norman Ross, the swimmer, who was lukewarm to the project until he took up the case of the athletes with the representatives of the Olympic committee on board the transport Princess Matoika.

This new and apparently powerful organization is influential in Boston, Chicago, New York, and San Francisco, and may even have the power eventually to place its own candidates in the highest offices in the Amateur Athletic Union. It will be able at least to make certain that in future international events already planned or projected, the athletes themselves will have active representation in the management. This is already the case in England, and it is apparent that the same system can be put through here.

Last night's effort, therefore, was outside of the scope of the customary A. A. U. politics, a more significant movement than has been made hitherto in the ranks of the organization. It may lead in the long run to the enlistment of the services of men nationally and internationally prominent who have kept away from A. A. U. affairs because of their dislike of the usual politics involved, and who, therefore, have not been available when international expeditions were undertaken. Time will undoubtedly bring about a correction of the mistake made in alienating the interest of Col. Thompson, and it will be possible, perhaps, for the new committee to bring back into the fold high-class sportsmen who have dropped the game in disgust.

Fight for Presidency

Changes in the rules of no great significance were made, and none of these was the outcome of Olympic experience. There was opportunity to adopt the Finnish javelin, but since the A. A. U. apparently does not think much of this event, the subject was not even mentioned. It may be brought up at the convention of the national association.

There is every prospect that in the national convention there will be a very pretty fight for the presidency. Considerable opposition has developed to Samuel J. Dallas, the present incumbent. It is likely that the Metropolitan Association will support Herman Obertubbessing, while the California candidate undoubtedly will be Robert M. Weaver. Weaver is the man who had hopes of taking the next Olympic Games to Los Angeles, a project unlikely to prove successful. He was extremely active in the management of the team at Antwerp, and was a direct point of contact between the athletes and the committee. How much strength he can muster when the time comes is a problem, for he is likely to encounter opposition even in his own State.

One More Olympic Investigation Is On

BOSTON, September 21.—Complaints by athletes who represented the United States at the Antwerp Olympiad that their treatment, their assignment to competitions and the handling of funds subscribed for the team were not what they should have been will be investigated by the New England Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

A resolution appointing a committee of investigation, with orders to report to the forthcoming national meeting of the A. A. U. at New Orleans, declared that the reports of the conditions, "if true, would indicate that certain of the officials in charge merit the severest censure from this body and from all lovers of clean sport." The committee, headed by President William H. Cuddy, was instructed also to offer to the national body a resolution that future Olympic teams be supported by the Government "to the end that this country may be represented in the best possible manner and that the representatives of America be given the official satanding which they should have."

Vardon and Ray Break Long Losing Streak

British Golfers Defeat Dowling and Frank McNamara on Garden City Links

Ted Ray and Harry Vardon finally broke the losing streak they have been gripped by of late and did a little winning on their own account over the links of the Cherry Valley Club at Garden City yesterday. Jack Dowling of Scarsdale and Frank McNamara, herry Valley pro, were the victims. After taking a lead of two up in the morning round, Vardon and Ray finally ran the match out on the thirty-fifth, winning 3 and 1.

Chili and Argentina Tied

VINA DEL MAR, Chili, September 21.—Football teams representing Chili and Argentina played a tie game here yesterday, the score being 1 to 1. The game was one of the series scheduled in the tournament which will decide the football championship of South America. Argentina and Brazil will play on September 24 and the final game will be played by Chili and Uruguay on October 3 unless there is a tie for first place. The Uruguayan team continues to lead in the tournament.

(Special Dispatch to The Evening Post.)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., September 21.—The black-jerseyed Harvard seconds this afternoon were to be called into the stadium to scrimmage with the varsity in the practice from which was expected to emerge a line-up which will to some degree resemble a varsity eleven. Certainly no such combination had developed when Trainer W. F. "Pooch" Donovan shouted "everybody in" at the end of two hours of hard work in the stadium last evening.

The first practice of the week was held behind closed gates, through which only the players, managers, coaches, and newspapermen were admitted. A scrimmage, the second of the season, was held with nearly all of the present varsity squad getting into action except several of the quarterback candidates, who were taken half way up the stadium to look down on the play and have pointed out to them by an assistant coach the sins of commission and omission being committed.

Assignal drill of nearly an hour and a half preceded the scrimmage, which was of about a half-hour's duration, and in the four elevens which worked with numerous shifts there was no semblance of a permanent combination. "If you can pick a first team from the lot, you're better than I am," declared Coach Fisher at the close of the practice. However, there were no additional injuries and no men shifted from one position to another, so that the line-ups predicted for the Holy Cross game by knowledge of the various individuals' experience and ability seem well founded. Keith Clark developed a slight muscle ache and was sent to the locker house early by Dr. Nichols. The injury of M. W. Bradbyer, a substitute back who pulled a tendon in last week's work, is the only one of consequence yet sustained. He will be unable to work for ten days.

R. M. Sedgwick of New York, the regular tackle, still is among the missing. W. B. ("Babe") Felton, last season's open play general, returned, and with W. J. Murray, last season's captain, coached the quarterbacks. Ralph Horween, fullback star of last season, also unexpectedly appeared and instructed the backers.

Harvard's game against Holy Cross Saturday will include nothing but "straight" football, varied occasionally by a forward pass. Coach Fisher is confident that the heavy line that he will put into the field with the crashing of Horween and Hamilton on fullback and the running of Humphrey will wear down the Holy Cross defense and hold up it and that will make numerous substitutions safe. Another cut in the varsity squad, that will decrease the number to forty men, will be made within three days.

Lesley Cup Matches Keenest in Years

Strong Teams for Boston, New York, and Pennsylvania Districts

At this time the competition for the Lesley Cup, between teams representing New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, looks as though it might be the keenest in years. The tri-city matches will be held at Merion Cricket Club, on October 1 and 2, so that it will be only a matter of a short time before the teams will be chosen. Just who will lead the metropolitan forces is something that is interesting a number of golfers. Ned Sawyer of Siwanoy is the "Met" champion; Jerome Travers and Oswald Kirkby have had the top places for years, but to-day Jesse Sweetser stands out most strongly in this district.

There is little doubt that Findlay Douglas of Apawamis will captain the team, and he will have such other golfers to select from as Reginald M. Lewis, who carried Chick Evans to forty-one holes in the national championship at Roslyn, and on Friday defeated Cyril Tolley, the British amateur champion, at Morris County; John G. Anderson, Gardiner White, Frank Dyer, William Reekie, Philip Carter, J. N. Stearns, jr., J. S. Worthington, and A. L. Walker, jr., the Columbia captain. Walter J. Travis is eligible for the team, since architects are no longer debarred from the amateur ranks, but whether he will play is another story.

It is more than probable that Thomas Harmon of the Scottish-American Club will be offered a place on the team. It was Harmon who took S. Davidson Herron, the 1919 champion, three extra holes at the Engineers' Country Club before the last named finally won.

Pennsylvania has some fine material to call upon, with W. C. Fownes, jr., Herron, and J. B. Rose, from Pittsburgh; J. Wood Platt, who put out Herron in the national championship; Max Marston, former New Jersey champion, now playing from Merion; Dwight Armstrong, Meredith Jack, Pat Grant, Norman Maxwell, Paul Tewksbury, Fred Knight, Edward Styles, F. C. Clarey, and Sidney Sharwood.

Massachusetts will have no new material, but will have such standbys as Francis Quimet, Fred Wright, jr., Parker Schofield, T. M. Claflin, P. W. Whittemore, B. R. Gorton, W. C. Chick, R. W. Brown, Larry Paton, B. W. Estabrook, and David Waters, while F. C. Newton will be the captain.

Preceding the Lesley Cup competition at Merion will be a seventy-two hole medal play tournament September 29 and 30, and it has also been decided to have a special thirty-six-hole medal event on September 30 for those who cannot be on hand for the seventy-two holes of play, but who can play one day before the Lesley Cup matches.

This is one of the few medal tournaments for amateurs in this country. The invitation affair at Merion should prove interesting, for there is just a possibility that Chick Evans will be there. He has been asked to pair up with Max Marston against Vardon and Ray at Merion on Thursday. Bobby Jones has been invited to play with Dwight Armstrong as his partner against the Britons at Huntingdon Valley to-morrow.

Great Golf by Evans

In that match at Morris County on Saturday where Evans and Jones administered an overwhelming defeat to the Britons the Chicago wizard performed in much the same manner as he did at Roslyn during the national meeting. In the morning Jones was the star of the quartet, but after luncheon Evans took the reins. His card to the turn showed 34, including four consecutive 3s, at the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth holes. Jones had a 37 for the first nine, after which the match ended.

Britons Sail in November

Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, the famous British golfers, will sail for England on November 6. According to Arthur D. Peterson, who is managing the tour for the pair, reservations have been made on the Celtic, which will leave port that day. From a financial point of view, at least, their visit has been a great success, for close to eighty matches were included on their schedule. Aside from that, Ray won the national open championship at Toledo in August, and Vardon finished in a tie for second place.

Golfers hereabouts will have twelve more opportunities to see the Britons in action. They will not return here until October 2, when they will play at Upper Montclair. On the following day they are listed for Century, while October 4 will see them at Lido, and October 5 at Garden City. The Essex County Country Club will entertain on October 6, and Knickerbocker the following day. October 9 they will appear at Shackamaxon, and on Sunday, October 10, they will play at Woodmere.

After that, their tour will take them to distant points, including Baltimore, Virginia, Delaware, and Montreal. They will return here on October 16, when they will play at the Quaker Ridge Country Club, and at Fairview the following day. On October 24, they will play over the North Shore Country Club, and their last match, on October 30, is listed at the Nassau Country Club.

Dates for the annual fall tournament at the Country Club of Atlantic City have been announced by F. C. Robins, the secretary. The meeting will be held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, October 21, 22, and 23, and thus for will conflict with nothing in the metropolitan district. It may be, however, that some club hereabouts will decide to hold a tournament at that time, since the Metropolitan Golf Association has issued dates only to the middle of October.

Added Events for N. Y. A. C. Games

In addition to the regular events scheduled for the 165th Fall Games of the New York Athletic Club to be held at Travers Island, Pelham Manor, N. Y., on Saturday, September 25, the Winged foot officials have placed a discus throw, handicap, and a pole vault handicap, on the programme.

In the discuss throw, A. R. Pope of the University of Washington, a member of the American Olympic team will compete against the best from the Metropolitan district, while in the pole vault, E. E. Jenne of the Washington State College, another of the American athletes in the Olympic games, will be on hand.

Taurus Leads Stars

William Miller, secretary of the Interclub Association, announces the winners of the prizes in the series of races of the Star class sailed over the courses of the Manhasset Bay and Port Washington Yacht Clubs and the Bayside Yacht Club on Little Neck Bay. William L. Inslee, owner of the Taurus, accumulated 74.5 points, leading all others. The other prize winners were: Aquilla, Gordon Curry, 67.79; Milky Way, F. W. Teves, 61.22; Saturn, G. W. Elder, jr., 52.54; Aria, George Abbott, 43.13; Mars II, W. C. Crosby, 40.97. In Class B the results were: Neptune, C. F. Searing, 64.81; Vega, R. d'Oench, 55.23; Big Dipper, J. R. Robinson, 51.85; Southern Cross, A. Knapp, 48.68.

For Every One
In New York Who Ever Had a Mother

That is the size of the huge audience for whom William Fox has produced the sweetest, dearest mother story ever brought from the world's greatest literature to the motion picture screen.

The first great drama-poem ever adapted successfully to the screen. So real, so human, so filled with smiles and tears that it will carry millions of men and women back to those childhood days when they snuggled up close to the warm mother heart and were enveloped in a mother's loving arms.

Every daily newspaper in Greater New York, voicing the opinions of six million persons, has praised William Fox's overwhelming presentation of Will Carleton's drama-divine, which brings tears unashamed from the eyes of all who see it.

OVER THE HILL TO THE POORHOUSE

The greatest love story ever told—
"The love story of all mothers."

Produced by WILLIAM FOX. ASTOR THEATRE B'way & 45th St. Directed by HARRY MILLARDE
