DEATH OF KEELER LAMENTED BY ALL

Oldsmobile Driver Was Well Liked by All Who Knew Him.

GARDEN SHOW DECORATIONS. Changes in White Steamer Interests.

Particulars of the 1907 Maxwell Line.

The death of Ernest Keeler, the Oldsmobile driver, as the result of an accident on the Point Breeze Track, near Philadelphia yesterday, has shocked the entire automobile world. Keeler was trying out his machine for the races to be held on the course to-day. He had been at the work about two hours when a Fiat driven by James Hamilton came on the track. In some unaccountable way when overtaking the imported car, the Oldsmobile skidded, striking the former on the front wheel next the radiator. The Fiat dashed into a track wagon coming in opposite direction sending the driver, horse and all into the ditch. One of the animals was so badly injured he had to be shot, and the colored driver of the team received a sprained wrist. W. H. Luton, Jr., mechanic to Hamilton was found to have internal injuries which may result fatally. Keeler was taken to St. Agnes Hospital in an unconscious condition. Examination proved he had received a bad skull fracture. The accident occurred at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and an hour later the injured one had died. Keeler was a quiet, unassuming man of sterling qualities, well liked by all who knew him. He was married and leaves a widow and young child. The business was being conducted by "Tom" Cooper, through an auto accident in Central Park, the accident to Keeler has cast a gloom over the entire motor car trade.

Colonel George Pope, chairman; Marcus L. Brock, Carlton R. Mabley and M. DeWitt, secretary, were in charge of the seventh annual Madison Square Garden Automobile Show, which is to take place in the famous exhibition building January 12 to 15 inclusive. The decorative scheme of 1906, which inaugurated a new standard for Greater New York, will next year be even better. The enormous amount of $1,000,000 placed in the hands of S. R. Ball, the decorator, Mr. Ball has been given a free hand, with instructions to make the garden more beautiful than anyone has ever seen it before. The results will be a trip abroad for ideas was made. The cars to be exhibited by the Licensed Association in the arena will be in the setting of a Swiss palace in early winter. The handsome will be decorated in scenes, the concert hall as an Oriental room, etc., each location being treated according to its artistic possibilities. Greater floor space will be given to the coming year's show, which, in itself will add to the brilliancy of the occasion.

An important step has just been announced by the White Steamer Interests. A new corporation called the White Company has been formed which will take over the entire automobile business hitherto conducted by the White Sewing Machine Company. The new concern is organized under the laws of the State of Ohio, with a capital stock of $2,500,000. The White Sewing Machine Company, the officers of the new company are: Windsor T. White, president; Rollin H. White, secretary; Walter C. White, second vice president; George W. Keeler, secretary; F. M. Sanderson, treasurer. The transfer to the new concern of the various assets relating to the automobile business, including the new factory, plant and branch offices are maintained, is now being effected. The new company assumes control of the White Steamer business from November 1, at which date the fiscal year of the two commenced.

Information regarding changes in Maxwell cars for 1907 has been given out by the first to adopt the shaft drive. The model "H" touring car is practically the same as the 1906 type. The main difference lies in the design of the brakes, making the motor flexible on hills. The clutch band has also been improved, but outside of these no other changes were deemed necessary. L. C. Kirkham is the exclusive distributor of Maxwell cars for Brooklyn and Long Island. The local salesrooms are located at Bedford avenue and Fulton street.

The Prayser-Miller Motor Car Company is planning a large exhibit at the Palace show, which will include a 50-horse power, seven-passenger touring car, polished bodies of the same, 24-horse power touring car, a 20-horse power touring car with machine, and a 20-horse power touring car with 24-horse power motor. On the outside will be demonstrations of the 50 and 24-horse power touring car types.

The Dragon Automobile Company will establish a Boston branch at 117 Massachusetts avenue, where the company vice president and sales manager of that company will have his headquarters. He will be assisted there by W. S. Daniels.

GETS EAGLE PENNANT

Interesting Ceremonies Attend Presentation to Diocesan Union Champions.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

Speechmaking and Vaudeville Marks a Lively Event at Visitation Hall.

The presentation of the Eagle pennant to the champion Visitation team of the Diocesan Union League, proved to be quite an auspicious occasion at Visitation Lyceum last night. The opening address of welcome was made by John F. Davis, president-elect of the union. Michael J. O'Neill, president of the Lyceum, occupied the chair, and introduced Congressman J. Fitzgerald, ex-president of the union.

Congressman Fitzgerald, in his remarks, gave the greatest encouragement to the purposes of the union, and declared that those principles that the union always stood for were furthered by keen, manly competition on the diamond as well as in other branches of sport.

Joseph J. Keane, another ex-president, bordered on the humorous in his remarks. He likened the game of baseball to the game of life, comparing the man who strikes out when opportunity comes to the man who does similarly in baseball.

"You have bases to reach, which correspond to goals in life's game," said Mr. Keane. "Sometimes you get them by sliding around obstacles, over rough ground, or by trying to get them fairly in the manly way to be admired. The Great Uncle watches the game of life much the same as the official on the diamond. There are fouls. That is when a player happens to make a mistake, or circumstances prevent him from permitting of the desired goal being reached."

In behalf of the Eagle, H. G. McNamee presented the pennant, which was accepted in the name of the Diocesan Union League by the Rev. William J. White, pastor of Visitation Church. "I believe in manly competition, which is the right and noble way to win the pennant," said Mr. White. "I thank the Eagle not only in behalf of the Visitation Lyceum, but in behalf of the Diocesan Union League, to say that I myself thank the Eagle for the interest it has taken in this competition. We are indeed glad to have the leading paper of Brooklyn represent the Diocesan Union League in the promotion of all that is clean in baseball."

The Rev. Thomas J. Leonard, president of the National Union of Catholic Young Men, in a practical and interesting address, spoke in behalf of the Diocesan Union League, and declared that this occasion was somewhat of a reflection on the recent campaign. He said that all of the teams that were beaten in the Visitation Lyceum were happy and he wished the team all the success in the world for next season.

The hall was well filled with people and the gathering was enthusiastic when the trophies were presented. The Eagle pennant was a surprise and the presentation of it was cheered to the echo. (Special to the Eagle.)

New Haven, Conn., November 24—Brooklyn took a slide down the ladder, in the National Interstate League games on Johnson's alleys in this city last night. The local outfit inflicted three straight defeats, getting even for the defeat the Brooklyn boys rolled in the New Haven when the latter rolled in Brooklyn. Two games were won by sensational sports, which intrenched the New Haven as the most consistent winners in the league. In the first set to Brooklyn led easily all the way until the eighth frame, when they were more than 100 pins ahead. New Haven reeled off 135 of a possible 150 pins, and in the last frame pulled out ahead. The second game was all New Haven. Brooklyn led in the third until the eighth square, when the boys were again overhauled by a spectacular run-up of the home five. Frank Beecher furnished the individual feature of the evening, his 240 being the best score. Cordeau was far below par, his 100 being a proving so ragged that he was taken out after the second session. The scores:

KEYSTONE GOLFERS TO FORM STATE BODY

Penn. Players Will Soon Organize and Establish Important Yearly Championship.

Keystone Golfers will soon be organized into a state association, and the new body will have an important effect upon the Metropolitan district.

Keystone golfers are soon to move toward forming a state association, and the new body will have an important effect upon the Metropolitan district. It means that as soon as the deed of gift of the Tri-City Cup can be altered, New York and Boston golfers must meet Pittsburgh and Oil City as well as Philadelphia players in the annual match for the Lesley Cup. If Pennsylvania is not so large a commonwealth, a state association would have been started years ago; as it is, the Keystone territory has been divided between the Philadelphia and Western Pennsylvania associations.

There is a special reason, however, why the time is ripe for a Pennsylvania organization in the Western Pennsylvania district, following misunderstandings between the Oakland and Allegheny County clubs in the team championships, and it is likely that the Allegheny club will withdraw from the district entirely. The Allegheny club, of which Eben M. Byers, national champion, is a member, resigned from the team competition after its tilt with the Oakland club, which was the Byers family. By that move Allegheny lost games by default. Oakland, by a curious mixup, was said to have withdrawn from the championship, owing to the report that it had canceled its game with Edgewood, when, as a matter of fact, it was the Edgewood club that incurred the forfeit.

Next Monday evening at 11 o'clock Joe Smith will roll a series of 11 games. Johnny Rempie and Oscar Steinguss will play in a 6 out of 11 series to-morrow afternoon on the Columbia alleys, Manhattan.

"Bobby" Bennett will roll against Harry Herberg in a series, best 6 out of 11 games, Monday night on the Fifth Avenue Palace alleys.

On the same night, Harry Cohn and Larry Edman will roll a 6 out of 11 series on the Columbia alleys. The general testimony is: "All our interests in the West are close relatives of Philadelphia and Atlantic Slope golfers generally."

Philadelphia golfers are discussing the official records of the past season just issued. First of all there are the points of the Philadelphia club, which has 2,187 points, the highest score in the West. We wish to close relations with Philadelphia and Atlantic Slope golfers generally.

BENNING'S SPECIAL AND HUNTERS' CHASE TO-DAY

Good Features Promise to Draw Crowd of 5,000 to Washington Track.

Washington, November 24—Benning's mid-meeting session to-day promises to be the best day of the entire fortnight of racing here, and the Washington Jockey Club should entertain a crowd of more than 5,000. The card offered is a high class one considering the time of the year, and while one or two events are overcrowded, the racing should be generally clean.

Benning's Special for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and one-half, and the Hunters' steeplechase over the full three-mile course. The fact that two distance races are down for decision is bound to bring out the enthusiasts, especially as the main event, in the local public's eyes, is a jumping race. Nemesis should run a rattling good race in the Special, though she beat little or nothing in the Vestal stakes, on Wednesday. Dainty is a pretty high class horse to be seen here and this should tell at the last stage of the long journey. Angler, if right, is sure to be a contender, though this erratic son of Hindoo runs some queer races at times. None of the others barring perhaps Banker, seems dangerous.

Harry Page will ride Mount Henry in the Hunters, and should come pretty near winning. Mr. Kerr, at times, rides some real good races, and to-day has a good horse under him in the half-bred Essex. Should be a mighty keen contender. Nuttall, which the popular Mr. Devereaux will ride, looks best of the others.

The 5th race, for all ages, at a mile and seventy yards, is one of the best on the programme. Oxford, which showed up so well here the other day, should win handily. The 6th race, for all ages, at a mile and seventy yards, is one of the best on the programme. Oxford, which showed up so well here the other day, should win handily.
