Three Hits, Two Errors, and Passes Net Seven Runs.

GIANTS WIN AT START.

Special to The New York Times. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—It took New York only a single inning—the first—to defeat the Phillies to-day by a score of 7 The hustling leaders scored all their runs in the first round, due principally to the generosity of the Quaker pitchers. Twelve Giants went to bat in this inning, six being passed to first on balls, three hit safely, and two Quakers added to the farce by making fumbles. Net result, seven runs and no further interest in the game. After the opening inning the Phillies played good ball. But so did New York, and in ccusequence the Quakers never had a chance. They hit Ames quite hard in spots and mostly after two were out. Ames's support was very fine, and this limited the Quakers' runs to one in the fifth and another in the eighth. The day was cold and a high wind blew from the northwest directly across the The weather conditions limited the crowd to about 300, but half of this number deserted their seats before the lies. He showed signs of distress from the first ball pitched. Tenney walked. With two strikes and three balls Herzog singled to centre. Osborne contributed his mite to the New York total by allowing the ball to roll to the clubhouse, Tenney scoring and Herzog reaching third. McCormick scored Herzog with a single Donlin hit a wicked past Doolin. grounder directly at Bransfield, stepped on the bag, retiring the batter, and then hurled the ball to Doolin in time to catch McCormick. With two down the fun began. Seymour received a pass. Devlin was safe Knabe fumbled his difficult grounder. Bresnahan walked, filling the bases. McQuillen was as unsteady as the wind, and Bridwell was franked, forcing home Seymour. Then the erratic Mr. Foxen was introduced. He promptly gave Ames and Tenney passes to first, two more runs coming very easy. Exit Foxen, and Moren comes on the scene. Herzog stung the ball for his second single of the inning, and Bridwell and Ames raced home, the latter's being the seventh run of the inning. McCormicly hit in front of the plate and Dooing mick hit in front of the plate and Dooln retired him at first.

After the farcical first inning the game was a contest. Moren pitched splendid ball and the Giants never had a chance to cross the plate again. In only one inning—the ninth—did they make more than two hits, and in this inning, with men on second and third and two out, Devlin hit to Doolin and was tossed out at first. With one out in the fourth Bransfield singled and Osborne doubled, but fine work by the New York infield prevented the Phillies from scoring. In the succeeding inning Moren hit to right field and took an extra base when McCormick fumbled the ball. Grant singled to left, but Donlin held Moren on third. Knabe hit to Herzog, who threw to Bridwell, forcing out Grant. Bridwell relayed the ball fast to Tenney, catching Knabe, Moren secring on the double play. Titus and Magee singled in succession, but Devlin's great stop of Bransfield's grounder and throw to Bridwell ended the inning.

In the eighth, with two out, Bransfield singled, Osborne walked. Doolin then singled to centre, Bransfield scoring the Phillies' second and last run. The score: NEW YORK. PHILADELPHIA

New Englanders Defeat Philadelphia in Intercity Matches. Intercity golf was opened in a rather dashing style on the Garden City links yesterday, when, playing in a stiff gale, the Boston team defeated the Philadelphians by one point. The contest was the first of the two days' competition for the Lesley Cup. Boston's victory gives the New England golfers the right to meet the New York team to-day. Metropolitan Association has held the trophy ever since it was offered for intercity contests by R. W. Lesley of Philadelphia, this being the fourth year of its competition. The rival teams consisted of ten players each and the match was thirty-six holes, the morning event being individual play, followed by two-ball foursomes in the afternoon. Boston had an advantage of two holes in the morning round, finishing with a score of 6 points to 4, but the Quakers were superior in the foursomes, winning three of the five matches, thus making the total for the day 8 for Boston to 7 for Philadelphia. Several of the morning matches were closely contested, but the easiest of the lot was the Johnston-Hanson game, the former, from Boston, winning ten holes in succession, something rarely seen in a team match. W. T. West, formerly one of Frinceton's leading players, had a hot game with P. W. Whittemore, winning by The best eighteen-hole score was made by J. G. Anderson of Boston in his match with Dr. Simon Carr of Philadelphia. Anderson won by 4 up and 2 to play, his score for the round being 77, admirable golf under the strenuous playing conditions. T. R. Fuller, the Massachusetts champion, had a spirited game with H. W. Perrin. The latter, after being 4 down at the turn and 5 down on the twelfth green, made a grand uphill fight, winning which Fuller made from a good put in a par 3 to 4, the Bostonian winning by 2 up. H. H. Wilder, the Harvard champion and Captain of the Boston team, had as his opponent R. Stull, a Cornell golfer, Wilder winning by 3 up and 2 to play. All of the foursome competitions were won by good margins except that between Car and McFarland of Philadelphia and

4 of the next 5 holes, but lost a chance to square the match on the home hole,

Johnstone and Thorp. The Quaker team won on the nineteenth hole. The results were: INDIVIDUAL PLAY. PHILADELPHIA. BOSTON. J. G. Anderson.....1 Dr. Simon Carr.....0
