Ranking Football Teams

Puts Harvard in Lead

Crimson Aggregation Still Has to Be Beaten, but Her Record Has Been Spoiled Through a Touchdown Scored by Cornell. Middles Alone Have a Clean Slate—Brown and Pennsylvania Both Have Done Exceptional Work on the Gridiron to Date.

Princeton University passed off the football horizon on Saturday in a way that brought little satisfaction to the followers of the Tiger team. After being positive of beating Yale, the defeat by the Blue was an exceptionally bitter pill for the Orange and Black to swallow.

Where to place Annapolis is rather difficult to say. Certainly the only key note to the strength of the Middles, The Indians are not particularly strong, and as Annapolis only won a 6-0 score on Saturday, it cannot be said that the Navy has an exceptional eleven.

INSURGENTS QUELLED AT THE ST. PETER'S C. L. A.

New Athletic Chairman Acts Quickly and Saves Basketball Team From Disruption.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE RESIGNS Plan to Boom Athletics at the Club. Big Meet Proposed—Track Team Probable.

Politics have been sizzling all over the country during the past few weeks, but in no one spot was there any more actively displayed than at the clubhouse of St. Peter's Catholic Library Association, 110 Warren street, where officers for the ensuing year were elected.

These facts caused some feeling among the athletic members of the club, for with most of the boys, St. Peter's comes first and personal grievances are secondary. Discord prevailed and when the officers were installed at a meeting of the organization a new chairman of athletics was elected.

Water found two good players for the basketball team and in his very first game it defeated the Clark House five of Manhattan, last Friday. Jack Dunn and Dominick Carigui were in the places of the men who would not play. One of the largest crowds of the season saw the game and the opinion was expressed that the absence of the kickers was hardly noticed.

The new athletic chairman of the club has arranged a big program for the coming winter, the principal event of which will be an athletic meet at the club in the first week in February. This is the first time that St. Peter's has undertaken a task of this kind, but it is believed that just as big a success can be made at this meet as the recent one of the boys from St. Anthony's club.

It is also the intention to try to form a track team that will make the best of the athletes step some. To this end runs are being held from the clubhouse on Sundays and many of the boys are getting into shape. Years ago the St. Peter's club had many runners on its roster and the cross country events conducted under the direction of Dan McMahon, the old-time champion distance runner, are well remembered by many of the long time members. There will also be handball and basketball tournaments among the members during the coming winter and from the outlook the club promises to again take its place among the foremost of the local athletic organizations.

Friday night's basketball games were very fast and the playing of the new members of the local five was very pleasing to the supporters of the game in the club. The Clark House team was beaten, 35 to 15, and while St. Peter's did not have an easy time, the victory was by a good margin. The second five of the club was also victorious over the Eiders, the score being 22 to 7. The lineup of the St. Peter's five (from left to right) was: Babe Petrick, left forward; Tom Dowling, right forward; Bill Petrick, center; D. Carigui, right guard, and D. O'Leary, left guard.

Walter J. Travis has a new scheme for conducting the intercity matches for the Lesley Cup. He explains it thus in the current issue of the American Golfer.

There are one or two weak points in connection with the present method of playing the annual match between the Massachusetts, Metropolitan and Pennington clubs, and the Lesley Cup. The conditions call for ten men on a side, singles to be played in the morning and fourfours in the afternoon.

It is a common practice with those trying to square themselves with the rules of golf to play a hole in one that will be a game covered by the most complicated set of regulations.

Golfing Season in the North Fast Drawing to a Close

Little Remains for the Golfers Now but the Annual Meetings and Elections of Officers—Diamond-Studded Prizes Beginning to Find a Place at Tournaments—Walter J. Travis Has New Plan for Lesley Cup Matches.

From any angle one takes it now, it is beginning to look like winter for the golfer and the consequent end of the regular northern season. Most of the clubs have almost finished their fall schedules, and some have already got as far as the end of the club championship contest, which usually marks the last of the important events for the year.

The announcement has also been made of the annual meetings of the big associations, the U. S. G. A. "annual," to be held in Chicago in January, and that of the Metropolitan Golf Association, to be held on December 12. Then in addition to this, it will be just a little over a week before the golfers are hard at play over the links of the Country Club of Lakewood, in what is regarded as the last important event of the northern schedule.

After the Lakewood affair, golfers of all classes will be hurrying South for the good things that are awaiting them at the popular resorts of Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. The preparations for the southern trip, as some of the paid class had their best harvesting time from now on to the spring. Alex Smith this year is to join the crowd and will take up the position at Bellair, Fla., which for years past has been the center of the winter activities of Lawrence Auchterlony.

There will be tournaments all over the southern courses during the winter season for the "pros," some of them conferring championship titles on the winners and others again bringing their reward in money prizes. The first of these will be that just announced to take place at Memphis. This tournament will be held at Memphis, Tenn., following Thanksgiving Day. Following this meeting will like come the tournament at Atlanta, Ga., which has now come to be an annual event.

It is doubtful if the originality of the promoters of the golf tournament played last week at Hot Springs, Va., will be generally commended. Reports from that resort where the "season" seems to have started in full blast, state that the prize for the "best" handicap was a "plum" with diamonds in cobweb platinum setting attached a black background, and that for the winner of the tournament the prize was a placid diamond watch.

MOORE WAS A FACTOR IN QUAKER VICTORIES

Superbas Lost the Series by Thirteen to Nine to the Philadelphia Team.

BARGER, BROOKLYN'S STAR. Fielding and Base-Running. The Records.

Of the 23 games played between Brooklyn and Philadelphia last season, the Superbas won 9 and tied 1. Brooklyn made a much better showing in the Quaker City, capturing 5 out of 11 contests. At Washington Park the team was returned a winner only 4 times. Earl Moore and Long Bob Ewing were the chief stumbling blocks for the Dahlenites. Moore earned brackets on 5 occasions, and was not beaten once. He had the Superbas swinging wildly, and fanned many of them, 13 falling before his curves in one battle. Ewing, also, got away with a clean record—Cy Barger did the best work for Brooklyn's stable of pitchers, winning 2 games and losing none. Rucker and Knetzer each secured an even break. The Quakers tried out 14 pitchers, and Brooklyn used 5.
