

"Farthest South" the Slogan For Superbas This Spring

PRESIDENT CHARLES H. EBBETS of the Brooklyn Superbas issued orders to your Uncle Robbie today that he must take the 1919 squad as far South as possible in the spring in order to bring them back in the best condition for the next pennant campaign.

Ebbets emphatically denied the story in a Manhattan afternoon paper yesterday that he had turned down Earl Smith last spring in order to save railroad expenses from Hot Springs, was intimidated. "In the first place," said Ebbets, "I was not on the training trip and was therefore in no position to pass judgment on the young catcher who has since gained prominence by being taken by the Giants in a trade with Rochester for four or five players."

REGARDING THE POLO SITUATION. UPON more than one occasion it has been announced that yachting has given more men to the united service than any other sport. Possibly the statement is true. Unfortunately, there is no national yachting association in the United States and so it is impossible to find out what percentage of amateur sailors actually has answered the call to the colors.

It is a question if yachting was hit harder by the war than the gentle game of polo. At the meeting of the National Polo Association yesterday it was announced that no less than 70 per cent of the ranking polo players of the country are in service. With such a number serving Uncle Sam it is no wonder that the game has been at a standstill for quite some little time.

The polo situation still is exceedingly dark. All other sports are beginning to plan for next season. Not so the men who ride ponies and drive a white ball over an emerald turf. They still cannot state if it will be possible to play tournament polo this summer. Of course it is all up to Uncle Sam. If he decided to let go his hold on enough players of that 70 per cent, there may be several tournaments in August.

Of course, international polo is out of the question. The Hurlingham Club is at present held in England. The polo association has no intention of sending a challenge until England is ready to receive it. In this respect the American polo players show considerably more sense than Sir Thomas Lipton, who challenged for the America's Cup almost before the ink on the signatures on the armistice was dry.

It would not be at all surprising to hear of a challenge going to England for an international polo match during the season of 1920. It is understood that the Banelagh, Roshampton and other English polo clubs have already drawn up a schedule for this summer and that the game will boom more in the "light little life" than it has ever boomed in the past. If such proves to be the case, and there is any real polo in America this summer, there seems to be no reason why there should not be an international match in 1920.

BACK TO THE OLD-TIME "EVILS." AFTER hearing paper after paper read regarding the so-called "athletic evils" by professors and others at the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association last December, the college sports probably would be back in their old-time glory, "athletic evils" and all, by next fall. Now comes Harvard with the announcement that the Crimson will resume all athletics on a pre-war basis. The so-called championship football games against Yale and Princeton, with all their "objectionable" side lights, will be again resumed. Professors and athletic coaches will have charge of the Harvard teams, in fact, Hugh Duffy, who had charge of the 1917-18 baseball team, again has been engaged to look after the ball players this spring.

If sports are resumed on a pre-war basis at Harvard, "good night" to athletic reform at other colleges. It is expected to get baseball players out of a par with the Crimson, Yale and Princeton will have to do the same thing. Naturally, these institutions set fashion in the intercollegiate world of sports. With the big fellows again maneuvering the "athletic evils," howled against so often by college professors, the small fry is bound to do the same thing.

JOHNSON MAY SUCCEED. A dispatch from Washington says: "Ban Johnson, president of the American League, called at the War Department today in connection with his efforts to get baseball players out of the army in time for the spring training and preparation for the coming season." He took with him a list of players, and War Department officials undertook to locate the men for him in order that the clubs may arrange to have them file applications for discharge.

Mr. Johnson conferred with Gen. Marshall, Chief of Staff. So far as known there will be no change in the policy of the department not to issue special orders in favor of baseball players, but to treat them as all other soldiers are treated and leave it to their immediate commanders to pass upon their applications for discharge. Since the long players have their places awaiting them, however, they fall within the class of soldiers commanding officers have been authorized to discharge without delay where military exigencies would not be injured by that action.

MITCHELL SOON TO RETURN. According to a letter dated "Somewhere in Germany," received by President Ebbets today, Clarence Mitchell, southpaw pitcher and hard hitting outfielder of the Superbas, expects to arrive back home in ample time to go on the spring training trip. Mitchell, the letter verifies the information given out by Boss Ebbets recently to the effect that Mitchell, Ward and the other players have their places awaiting them, however, they fall within the class of soldiers commanding officers have been authorized to discharge without delay where military exigencies would not be injured by that action.

Brooklyn Prep Still Leads Though Beaten by St. Francis

The crown heights team, led by Capt. Artie Lynch, tried its hardest to regain the lost lead in the final quarter. Lynch shot one from the mid-floor and Wade eased another right on his heels. These made the score 21-17. J. P. Lynch again broke loose and dropped another pair of baskets through the rim. These practically clinched the St. Francis triumph, as time rapidly drew to a close.

Brooklyn Prep, although beaten, still retains a hold, even if it is a mighty slim one, on first place. A margin of one-half game separates it from St. Francis, which are now in a tie for second place in the league standing. The triumph was of an ideal nature to St. Francis viewpoint. To gain his victory the Butler, St. Francis was forced to fight uphill to obtain final success. Brooklyn Prep played a clever passing and floor game and jumped into the lead at the beginning.

St. Francis instituted a bang-up game right from the start of the third quarter. Its opponent's goal was constantly peppered with shots and the Butler, at total rose fast and steadily until he led at the end of the first quarter by 6-3, and again at half-time by 13-6.

Of the six Class C players who will compete with Ferdinand A. Wagner for the national title are five Brooklynites, the other coming from Manhattan. These are the indications as the preliminary tournament draws to a close. Sidney Brussel entered the list last night when he disposed of L. A. Servatius, and John Langdon got into the running by defeating Joe Neustadt. Both winners are Brooklyn players. Gus Gardner and J. S. Blaisdell, together with Charles Steinbugler, are the other men from this side of the bridge to be contenders.

The Metropolitan team would show up after this fashion, provided the former national champion consented to resume cup competition: Travers, Kirby, Marston, Anderson, White, Topping, Carter, Lewis, Kammer and the Boston team.

Golfer Ouimet's Return Will Strengthen Boston 1919 Team

The announcement that there is a likelihood of Ned Sawyer taking up his residence in the Eastern district calls attention to the value of his presence on a Lesley cup team. During the way Sawyer did Government work in Washington, and it is said that he has received an offer from an eastern steel concern that may keep him from returning to Chicago.

It is taken for granted that the Lesley cup contest will be continued just as the local and national championships are to be played this year. As Robert W. Lesley, donor of the cup, has presided over the Philadelphia Golf Association, and his body has just voted to resume its title play, it is hardly likely that Mr. Lesley will in any way object to the taking up again of the series.

NEWS OF SCHOLASTIC ATHLETICS

Xavier High Beaten. De La Salle Institute's basketball team defeated Xavier High School in a contest on the former's court yesterday by a score of 17 to 8. Close guarding was the rule throughout, which accounts for the small totals. The end of the first half found De La Salle with a lead of one point, the score standing at 6 to 5. Xavier was also outplayed in the second period. Graham and Maazran shared the De La Salle individual honors between them. The line up follows: De La Salle: ... Xavier: ...

St. John's College Wins. St. John's College varsity basketball team played its second game of the season tonight against Manhattan College on La Salle court. The Red and White is putting out only one informal team this year because of the unstable state of athletic affairs resulting from the great numbers of St. John's men who have been released from active military service. It was hoped at first that Joe Mahoney and Duke Farrell, two of the mainstays of last year's team, would return to the team. However, Mahoney has prevented them. Dutch Goette, who has returned from the service at Camp Gordon, is the only member of last year's team to report to Coach Schmitt. Those who are trying out for the

Molish's Nose Broken In Wrestling Match

The main wrestling bout at the Star Theater last night between Jack Molish and the Donagel Boy, and Joe Molish, the big ironworker from Cleveland, ended with a very painful and bloody nose for the latter. The match had been on even terms for ten minutes when Molish accidentally kicked his opponent on the nose, breaking it. Molish, which he values very highly, with the result that the Greek gave the minor some very rough treatment. Next Thursday night Will Blahman fought Martin Ludecker in a Ju-Ju-Jitsu and Young Monday tackled Bob Emmett.
