QUAKERS CARRY OFF LESLEY GOLF CUP

Beat Massachusetts Holders of Famous Trophy in One-

Sided Match. 10 to 5. HERRON LOSES, THEN WINS

Champion, Paired with Byers, Drops Foursome, but Defeats Whittemore in Singles.

Special to The New York Times. SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Oct. 4.-The Massachusetts Lesley Cup golf team was unable to beat back the assault of the Pennsylvania team in the second day's matches for this famous trophy on the National links today, and the Quakers supplemented their victory over the New Yorkers on Friday to obtain possession of the cup for one year. Pennsylvania won today by the total score of 10 to 5. In the forenoon they captured three out of five matches foursomes, and in the afternoon they brought in seven victories in ten starts in the singles. In spite of the rather one-sided result of the afternoon play the Bay State delegation teamed up in such a manner as to beat the showing of the New Yorkers on the first day. The outstanding feature of the matches today was the decisive manner in which Parker W. Whittemore and W. B. Estabrook, both from Brookline, defeated S. Davidson Herron, the amateur champion, and E. M. Byers, a former national titleholder, both from Pittsburgh. Herron is a terrific wala 2 and 1 decision over W. C. Fownes, Jr., and Max Marston. Herron Wins at Singles. In the singles, Whittemore drew the first position on his team and was matched against Herron. The latter won after a rather interesting argument, 3 and 2. Strangely enough not once until the finish on the seventeenth green did Herron ever have an ad-loper and Byers an adept at the short-pitch and chip game as well as a fine putter. But the two could not get their work to jibe closely enough to stall off the fine work of Whittemore and Estabrook. The Brookliners scored by the

The other winning team at doubles for the Massachusetts team was composed of Larry Paton, Boston's best known golfing scribe, and F. C. Newton, another Brookline player. This pair got wide margin of 5 and 4.

opponent. A topped tee shot on the first hole, in spite of which Whittemore came near getting a half, allowed Herron to get an early lead. Whittemore got this back on the third when Herron was short on his second shot and took two putts after chipping to the green. Another topped tee shot handicapped Whittemore on the fourth. He followed by overplaying the green on his second and then missed a vantage of more than two holes over his five-foot putt that would have given him a half, although Herron reached the green on his tee shot. Whittemore evened the match again on the seventh after slicing his drive to the rough. He hit a terrific second from this rough, got home on his third and wen 5 to 6, when Herron took three putts after reaching the green in three. Herron won the next, 4 to 5, and halved the ninth to turn one up. Whittemore missed another putt of some five feet on the eleventh, and became two down. But he got one back on the eleventh when Herron obliged by taking three putts himself. Whittemore Gets Dangerous. Herron won the twelfth, chiefly because Whittemore played his second weakly and dropped short of the green. The short thirteenth was halved, after! which Whittemore ran down a ten-foot putt for a birdie 3 to win the four-teenth. He looked almost certain to win the next and get even, when he dropped his second on and laid his third up dead. Herron was short on his second, and his chip shot stopped twelve feet from the cup, and the Pittsburger sank his putt for a half in 4. The sixteenth went to Herron to make him dormie two. Whittemore overplayed his long iron second and failed to get up on his chip-back from just off the green. He had a difficult six-foot side-hill putt for a half, but missed it. Herron got the seventh, 4 to 5, to end the match, when Whittemore fell short in two, then ran past the cup on his third and missed his four. Max Marston Wins, 1 Up. Rodney Brown gave Max Marston something of a scare by sprinting smartly on the last few holes of their match. Marston turned the first nine 2 up and had increased it to 3 by the time they finished the fifteenth. Brown took the next two, but Marston halved the home hole to win, 1 up.

W. C. Fownes, Jr., got the decision over Larry Paton on the home hole also. Paton played fine golf going out, scoring 39 for the first nine holes in spite of a bad start on the first, where he picked up and conceded the hole.

This enabled him to turn the nine 2 up.

left for a half in 5 Paton was stymied by Fownes's approach putt and lost the

This is the first time the Pennsyl-Fownes came back strongly on the second nine and managed to even things by winning the seventeenth. They came back to the home green on even terms, but with a two-foot putt hole and match.

vania team has won the Lesley Cup since 1912, when they were victorious on the Huntingdon Valley course in Philadelphia. The summaries: FOURSOMES. PENNSYLVANIA.—W. C. Fownes, Jr. and Max Marsten, 6; L. Wood Platt and George Hoffmer, (3 and 2.) 1; S. D. Herron and E. M. Byers, 0; Dwight Armstrong and George Ormiston, (3 and 1.) 1; Paul Tewkesbury Ormiston, (3 and 1.) I; Paul Tewkesbury and Pat Grant, (6 and 4.) 1. Total—3. MASSACHUSETTS.—F. C. Newton and L. S. Paton. (2 and 1.) 1; W. C. Chick and T. M. Claffin, 0; P. W. Whitemore and W. B. Estabrook, (5 and 4.) 1; Rodney Brown and R. R. Gorton, 0; P. F. Schoffeld and R. Dezpierce, 0. Total—2.

SINGLES.

PENNSYLVANIA.-S. D. Herron, (3 and 1.) 1: M. R. Marston. (1 up.) 1; G. Hoffner, (3 and 2.) 1; W. C. Fownes, Jr., (1 up.) 1; Paul Tewkesbury, (4 and 3.) 1; L. W. Platt, (8 and 2.) 1; D. Armstrong, (2 and 1.) 1; E. M. Byers, 0; Pat Grant, 0; G. A. Ormiston, 0. Total—7. Grand total—10. MASSACHUSETTS.—P. W. Whitemore, 0; R. R. Brown, 0; B. W. Estabrook, 0; L. B. Paton, 0; T. M. Claflin, 0; F. C. Newton, 0; W. C. Chiefe, 0; R. R. Gorton, (5 and 3.)

0; W. C. Chick, 0; R. R. Gorton, (5 and 3.) 1; P. Gilbert, (8 and 7.) 1; P. F. Schofield, (4 and 3.) 1. Total-3. Grand total-5.

The New York Times Published: October 5, 1919

Copyright © The New York Times