

AMICUS CLUB VICTORIOUS IN FAST GAME WITH CATSKILL ON JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL'S COURT

In one of the fastest games of basketball played in Amsterdam in recent years the crack Amicus club captured a large crowd of fans by defeating the Catskill Hoosiers, fresh from victories over the Long Island Pros and the Hoboken Germans, came to the scene of adding the local scalp to their collection, and when they overcame a five-point lead when the Amicus club had gained in the first half and established a two-point margin themselves they followed well on the way to victory. However, a game spurt by Manager Salamack's hard fighting clan turned the tide in the locals' favor in the last few minutes of the game.

The contest started with the local getting away to a four-point lead when "Doc" Allen caged two sensational shots in short order. However, Kelly and Simmons, captain of the Amicus club, were able to put the Amicus club on a par with the Hoosiers. When the half about three-quarters over the soldiers took a moment's rest but two moments' respite for the Hoosiers. Allen and a couple of pretty ones by Huntington found Amicus enjoying a five-point lead at half time.

The fourth pace set at the start of the game had continued through-out the period, and there were few spectators who thought that the two clubs could maintain it during the second half. But, if anything, the second half was faster than the first. Belfance relieved Isabel at guard as the half got under way. The five-point lead that the Amicus boys had worked so hard for quickly vanished when Kelly, Sutter and Simmons came through with deft goals and Brice made good on a foul.

A foul-made goal by Huntington brought the local 66 within two points of Catskill's 72. At this time Manager Salamack sent Alex Isabel back in the game in place of Dink, and on the very first play the old warrior tied the score with a neat shot from the side. During a scrimmage "Rip" Belfance sustained a severe twist to one of his knees and was forced to retire, Barzelata taking his place.

With the score knotted at 22-22 "Dink" made good on a foul shot, and then Marty Fontana came through with the feature shot of the game—a one-handed throw from near the center of the court. Another foul point by Barzelata and one by Huntington completed the scoring.

Next week Manager Salamack has booked George Kaiser's All-Schenectady five, composed of Bill Markotski, Eddie Matthews, "Dutch" Schmidt, Tommy Winkler and Hubie Menbach, former Stevens Tech star. The detailed score of Wednesday night's contest follows:

"IRON MAN" JOE M'GINNITY DEAD

Pitched Brooklyn to Victory in Six Games in Seven Days With Pittsburgh.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Joe McGinnity, one time "Iron Man" of the pitching staff of the New York Giants, died at the home of his daughter in Brooklyn today. He was 55 years old.

He had been critically ill since last August, when he failed to rally after an operation for the removal of a tumor.

His baseball career extended over 32 years, beginning in Montgomery, Ala., in 1897, and ending only four years ago in Dubuque, Iowa, where as player-manager he pitched twenty games at the age of 53.

He was first called the "Iron Man" when as a member of the Brooklyn team he pitched six winning games against Pittsburgh in seven days, winning the pennant for the team.

He joined the big leagues in Baltimore in 1899 and continued as one of the foremost pitchers of his day for almost ten years. He came to Brooklyn in 1909 when a reduction of the National league circuit from twelve to eight clubs brought about a merger of the two teams.

At the start of the 1901 season he jumped to the Baltimore Americans, then under the guidance of John J. McGraw, and when McGraw a year later came to New York to lead the New York Giants he came with him. He remained with McGraw during the remainder of his major league days.

McGinnity figured prominently in the Giant pennant victories of 1901 and 1905 and divided two games in the 1905 world series against the Athletics. In June of 1904 he strengthened his claim to fame by winning three double-headers. The triumphs of 1905, however, marked the peak of his success, although he remained with the Giants until 1928. He went with Newark the following year and thereafter played on numerous minor league teams until his retirement.

AMSTERDAM HIGH SCHOOL TO MEET TROJANS SATURDAY IN FINAL CONTEST FOR SEASON

Football fans will have their last opportunity of seeing the Amsterdam High school eleven in action Saturday at Jollyland as the Troy High game is the final contest on the local schedule for the 1929 season. Captain Nabozny, Barney Nevins, Silk, Callfano and Tatar will undoubtedly represent the Purple and Gold for the last time, as these men are expected to graduate this June.

Getting off to a slow start due to hard early season schedule the local pigskin warriors have gradually come around and many fans are of the opinion that the team at this time compares favorably with the successful eleven turned out at the High school last fall.

Last year Amsterdam defeated the Troy team by a score of 12 to 6, the game being in doubt until the final whistle and only a spectacular tackle by Griffith after a Troy player had scooped up a fumble, saved the locals from a tie game or perhaps a defeat.

Troy comes here Saturday with a heavy veteran lineup which held the R. P. I. fresh to two touchdowns. Their offense features tricky crisscross and delayed line-backs, and it is rumored that their passing is of the highest order. Amsterdam High has been putting in a hard week of practice and Coach Tracy has left nothing undone to assure the local squad being in the pink of condition.

For the first time in several weeks the team will present full strength, as there are no members of the squad on the injured list. The line plungers Nevins, Rembert, Callfano and Wojcik are ready to rip at Troy's defense while the speed merchants Kuk, Silk and Kozuek ought to turn in some long gains around the ends. Kuk, especially, though playing his first season, is developing into a steady ground gainer and with another year's experience should be a sensation on High school gridirons. The regular ends, Jaracz and DiSenna, have recovered from their injuries and have shown up in fine style in scrimmages this week. "Nig" Nabozny has spent the week in practicing placement kicks, and it is expected that his toe will account for some points after touchdowns in Saturday's game.

The Student body is showing a great deal of interest in this final contest and it is expected that the largest cheering section of the season will be on hand to lend encouragement to the local warriors. The game will be called at 2:15 and quarter-back at St. Lawrence university will referee. Fred Eckelman will umpire, while Kryszak will have charge of the lines. The game will be played rain or shine, and in case of inclement weather the covered stands will furnish adequate protection for all the fans.

Associations Desire to Pay Golfers' Expenses

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The problem of whether the district associations should be allowed to pay the expenses of Leley cup golfers was one of the leading questions before the quarterly meeting of the United States Golf Association today. A petition from the Metropolitan, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania associations, which engage annually in the Leley cup series, requests the national body to sanction their plan, the traveling expenses of the players.

The attitude of the U. S. G. A. always has been that amateur golfers must pay their own way, with the Ryder cup matches as the only exception.

Minority Stockholders Ask Stoneham for an Accounting

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Fourteen minority stockholders have had summonses served upon Charles A. Stoneham, president, and Leo J. Bundy, treasurer, demanding a court accounting of $410,000 disbursed by the National Exhibition company to its president between 1919 and 1926. The company operates the National league baseball team.

The minority group is headed by William F. Kenny, wealthy contractor, who a year ago purchased a one-fifth interest in the club.

Admitting that the disbursements were made as alleged, Mondy said that public accountants found the books in order when Mr. Kenny purchased his stock. Most of the payments, the treasurer added, represented returns to the club president of sums he had advanced the ball club without interest.

Bondy said Stoneham would not sell his interests in the company nor purchase minority interests at exorbitant prices.

CALIFORNIA TROJANS ARE FIGURING TO STOP RUSH OF NOTRE DAME'S ELEVEN

BY ALAN J. GOULD.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—On the already well-established theory that they do come back, even if it takes a trip of 3,000 miles for the purpose, Southern California's Trojans figure to be the team to stop Notre Dame's rush next Saturday before some 120,000 spectators at Soldier's field, Chicago.

On the also well-established fact that Notre Dame, even with Knute Rockne able to direct them only on a part-time basis, has "turned out" the greatest Hoosier array since the "Four Horsemen" the unbeaten South Bend cyclone figures to sweep over the Trojans and on toward a national championship.

It is an argument that depends on the point of view. It won't be decided probably until the Duke settles along the shore of Lake Michigan. But if this intersectional battle doesn't turn out to be one of the greatest of the season, it will not be for the lack of spectacular elements.

Those who like the chances of Southern California see the Trojans bounding across the country to atone for their unexpected setback at the hands of California. U. S. C. has finished its big game schedule on the coast and can "shoot the works" against Notre Dame, whereas the Hoosiers still have Northwestern and the Army to worry about.

Notre Dame, on the other hand, has taken its last two games "in stride" to be at the peak for Southern California. For the first time since beating Carnegie, Rockne himself will be on the side lines, even though his ailing leg will keep him in a wheel chair. The psychology of this alone will be a big stimulant to the Hoosiers.

Though it may be argued most of Notre Dame's victims so far have also been manhandled by other teams, the fact remains that Rockne's Ramblers have convincingly disposed of one of the severest schedules tackled by any team. The workmanlike play of Frank Carideo, one of the best quarterbacks of the season, has impressed even its critics. The push and the punch are unquestionable there.

Notre Dame has the smoother working backfield array, with Carideo, Martin Brill, Jack Eder and either Savoldi or Mullins as fullback, but Southern California has a wealth of fast runners, including Duffield, Saunders, Meece, Hill and Moses. Don't Moses is tabbed by coast experts as the man to watch at Chicago. "Inclined" to be on the field last year and out of action this season because of a broken bone in his foot, Moses is said to have returned to action in fine form.

The part that the two strongest hard-charging lines will play in this drama may be the decisive factor, however much the spotlight may be on Carideo or Eder, Duffield or Moses. Flanked by such fine ends as Tappan and Arbelbide, Southern California's line has a massive center trio, featuring George Dye at the pivotal position and Captain Nate Barrager, a guard of all-American caliber. Notre Dame also is well equipped on the ends, with a fine pass receiver in Colerick and such other stalwarts as Captain Law, Moran and Cannon.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

When the debate shifts to battering-ram fullbacks, Earl "Powerhouse" Pomroy of the University of Utah team should not be overlooked. An expert observer in the Rocky Mountain area remarks: "In three games Pomroy has stolen the show every time, with an average of about eight yards per try, using a straight drive. Marvin Jones, strapping center, who helps clear the way for Pomroy, is another big factor in the success of the Armstrong's Utahs."

Utah, with one of the most powerful scoring machines in the country, is headed toward its third conference championship in four years.

Dr. R. N. Blackwell of Southern Methodist, most enterprising of the Southwestern Conference schools in broadening its fields of football activity, stoutly defends the conference against attacks, criticism or insinuation that it tolerates "subsidizing and recruiting." The Carnegie report noted a comparative lack of proselytizing in the great Southwest. "No one is allowed to solicit for athletes," asserts Dr. Blackwell, citing rules as stringent as those of the Yale-Harvard-Princeton pact of 1922.

He adds: "If a university has a good football team and wins a championship it always brings forth the question of 'paid athletes,' regardless of the justification of the charge. If the university loses all of its football games nothing is said. It is reasonable to expect a good football team to be any more harmful in its effects upon a student body as a whole than it is upon Philadelphian business men to try to rack and ruin because they had a championship baseball team this year."

From a Long Island weekly newspaper:

A few weeks back we had occasion to encounter the star football player (who received a scholarship at college). This was to have been his last year. To the inquiry as to why he was not on the gridiron he replied: "My leg is all shot and I can't play football any more. When a college is paying you to play the game and your leg goes bad, what else are you going to do?"

Among those mentioned as possible successors to Enoch Bagshaw, who resigned under fire as head football coach at the University of Washington, are Harry Stuhldreher of Villanova, Ike Armstrong of Utah and Dr. Clarence Spears of Minnesota.

Stuhldreher seems to be "mentioned" whenever a big coaching job boils up. The former leader of the "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame has built himself a fine reputation at Villanova, where his contract still has some time to go. He was "mentioned" not so long ago as a possible successor to Gil Doherty at Cornell, but Gil has cast another winning team as an anchor to windward.

Spears is noted by L. H. Gregory in the Portland Oregonian, once came within a telegram of accepting a job on the Pacific coast, his health interfering at the time. Presumably this was the University of Oregon, which subsequently engaged John J. McEwan, the one-time All-American center and Army star.

Centrals Trim Amicus Juniors in Close Basketball Match

In one of the most exciting basketball games played on the Junior High school court this season the Centrals defeated the Amicus Juniors by a single point in an overtime period after a hard struggle. The Centrals were the first to score when Mustico sank a field goal from under the basket. A few moments later Mustico put one in from under the basket. For the rest of the quarter it was nip and tuck, the Centrals leading 12 to 8.

The Amicus Juniors regained the lead in the second quarter after some great passing and shooting by Mustico, ending in their favor 21 to 20. In the third quarter the Amicus boys increased their lead on some thrilling long shots by Orapello, Christian and Farfello, leading at the end of this period 29 to 24.

The last quarter found the Centrals fighting hard and slowly creeping up on their opponents, the quarter ending with the teams tied, 33 and 33. In the overtime period

Petrosino was fouled in the act of shooting and he made good on his first shot, but missed the second. The Amicus lads threw caution to the winds and attempted long shots, Orapello sinking one to put the Amicus boys ahead by one point. With half a minute to go Petrosino sank one from under the basket, and the game ended with the Centrals the victors by one point, 41 to 40.
